

It has been brought to our attention by a diligent resident that there is a tax bill error for residents who reside in the FORMER WHEATLAND FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT and received an AGRICULTURE EXEMPTION in 2020. Your 2021 tax bill does NOT show an agricultural exemption for that portion of the bill identified as the Wheatland Scottsville Joint Fire District. This reflects a computing error by the County. They are now aware of the error and will be correcting the problem. At this point we believe they will be printing a new bill. We will learn more tomorrow and will update you if this process is not the final procedure they decide to follow to correct the situation. Sorry for the confusion and my thanks to the resident who came to the Town with proper backup documentation and ability to discuss her concerns in order to help us correct the situation with the County.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING:

The Planning Board of the Town of Wheatland, pursuant to Sections 116-1 and 116-22.B. of the Code of the Town of Wheatland, will hold a Public Hearing on Tuesday, February 2, 2021 at 7:00 P.M. in the “virtual” Wheatland Municipal Building, Scottsville, NY to consider the following:

Town, Of Wheatland
22 Main St
Scottsville, NY 14546

Dear Resident(s),

Rochester Gas and Electric Corporation (RG&E) is nearing the completion of the construction of its new CM-6 Natural Gas Pipeline in the Towns of Chili, Wheatland, and Caledonia. As part of the commissioning of the new pipeline, RG&E will conduct a pressure test using water to certify and qualify the pipeline to operate at its designed pressure. This test will take place on or about October 5th, 2021.

During the Test, the following may be expected:

- Temporary work activity along the pipeline route;
- Temporarily elevated noise levels in the limited locations where the test equipment is set up and where personnel are working;
- Venting of compressed air or pressurized water may be heard periodically at locations along the pipeline as it is being filled and during the testing;
- Work may occur at night as well as during the day to attain the prescribed test durations. The test will be sustained for a minimum of 12 hours at the required pressure. Few landowners and tenants will be affected or notice much change from normal activity levels;
- If there is a leak during the test, the pressurized testing water may briefly spray into the air and/or pool on the ground. Do not go near the release.

We apologize in advance for any inconvenience this may create and thank you for your cooperation and patience during this necessary testing. Should you have any questions regarding this work, please feel free to call me at 585.297.7985.

You have received this notice as part of our outreach, but it does not require any action or response on your part.

Yours Sincerely,

Commissioners

September 27, 2021

Dear Elected Official:

The Comprehensive Broadband Connectivity Act, enacted in May of this year, amended the Public Service Law to add a new section 224-c. Among other things, the Act requires the Public Service Commission (PSC or the Commission) to study the availability, reliability, and cost of high-speed internet and broadband services in New York state, and produce and publish on its website, a detailed internet access map of the state, indicating access to internet service by location. In addition, the Act requires the Commission to submit a report of its findings and recommendations from the study to the governor, and Senate and Assembly leaders in May 2022, and update the report annually thereafter.

We write to you today to inform you of our activities in this important work project, and to request your help in the project's success.

The Department of Public Service (the Department or DPS), the Commission's staff arm, has hired ECC Technologies (ECC), a New York State based company with expertise in technology and communications consulting services, to gather the necessary data to develop the detailed internet access map and to produce the report of findings and recommendations related the availability, reliability, and cost of high-speed internet and broadband services in New York state. ECC will use data collected from internet service providers, data gathered from its own field activities, and data collected from consumers to form the basis for the broadband map and report.

The Department and ECC will employ an online broadband service survey as the main element of the consumer data gathering effort. Consumers completing the survey will provide valuable information back to DPS and ECC on the status of broadband services availability and use at their homes and businesses. The survey is easy to follow and takes less than 10 minutes to complete. The survey webpage also includes an optional broadband speed test, whereby consumers can test their current broadband connection for upload and download speed. The weblink for the online survey can be found at: www.empirestatebroadband.com.

We are asking for your help in disseminating this weblink to your constituency via posting on your municipal website, direct emails to your constituency, comments and notices at public meetings, and whatever other means you use for community outreach. We are confident that your assistance and promotion of this online survey will help generate significant consumer participation in your area. Accompanying this letter are flyers containing the weblink and scannable QR code to help facilitate your outreach efforts.

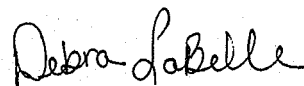

ECC has field staff traveling to many areas of the state, documenting their observations of communications infrastructure. ECC staff will have company identification credentials, including management contact information, on their person at all times, and shall provide such identification and/or contact information upon request or as needed to effectuate their field work activities on behalf of the Department. ECC staff may provide a general explanation of their work on behalf of DPS, however, ECC staff are not authorized to disclose confidential or propriety information. ECC staff are not authorized to enter private property, or other areas not clearly identified or deemed to be public access or public rights-of-way, in the conduct of their work for the Department.

In addition, the report of our findings and recommendations will include instances where local governments have notified the Commission of alleged non-compliance with franchise agreements that have a direct impact on internet access. Instances of alleged non-compliance of a video provider with the network build requirements contained in its franchise agreements (i.e., buildout of primary service area or line extensions) should be filed with the Secretary, with a copy to Debra LaBelle, Director of the Office of Telecommunications at the Department.

Questions or concerns about the online survey or ECC field activities can be directed to ECC company management, or to the undersigned Department representative. Thank you in advance for your assistance in promoting the broadband online survey and the state's broadband mapping project.

Dear Elected Official:

The Comprehensive Broadband Connectivity Act, enacted in May of this year, amended the Public Service Law to add a new section 224-c. Among other things, the Act requires the Public Service Commission (PSC or the Commission) to study the availability, reliability, and cost of high-speed internet and broadband services in New York state, and produce and publish on its website, a detailed internet access map of the state, indicating access to internet service by location. In addition, the Act requires the Commission to submit a report of its findings and recommendations from the study to the governor, and Senate and Assembly leaders in May 2022, and update the report annually thereafter.

We write to you today to inform you of our activities in this important work project, and to request your help in the project's success.

The Department of Public Service (the Department or DPS), the Commission's staff arm, has hired ECC Technologies (ECC), a New York State based company with expertise in technology and communications consulting services, to gather the necessary data to develop the detailed internet access map and to produce the report of findings and recommendations related the availability, reliability, and cost of high-speed internet and broadband services in New York state. ECC will use data collected from internet service providers, data gathered from its own field activities, and data collected from consumers to form the basis for the broadband map and report.

The Department and ECC will employ an online broadband service survey as the main element of the consumer data gathering effort. Consumers completing the survey will provide valuable information back to DPS and ECC on the status of broadband services availability and use at their homes and businesses. The survey is easy to follow and takes less than 10 minutes to complete. The survey webpage also includes an optional broadband speed test, whereby consumers can test their current broadband connection for upload and download speed. The weblink for the online survey can be found at: www.empirestatebroadband.com.

We are asking for your help in disseminating this weblink to your constituency via posting on your municipal website, direct emails to your constituency, comments and notices at public meetings, and whatever other means you use for community outreach. We are confident that your assistance and promotion of this online survey will help generate significant consumer participation in your area. Accompanying this letter are flyers containing the weblink and scannable QR code to help facilitate your outreach efforts.

ECC has field staff traveling to many areas of the state, documenting their observations of communications infrastructure. ECC staff will have company identification credentials, including management contact information, on their person at all times, and shall provide such identification and/or contact information upon request or as needed to effectuate their field work activities on behalf of the Department. ECC staff may provide a general explanation of their work on behalf of DPS, however, ECC staff are not authorized to disclose confidential or propriety information. ECC staff are not authorized to enter private property, or other areas not clearly identified or deemed to be public access or public rights-of-way, in the conduct of their work for the Department.

In addition, the report of our findings and recommendations will include instances where local governments have notified the Commission of alleged non-compliance with franchise agreements that have a direct impact on internet access. Instances of alleged non-compliance of a video provider with the network build requirements contained in its franchise agreements (i.e., buildout of primary service area or line extensions) should be filed with the Secretary, with a copy to Debra LaBelle, Director of the Office of Telecommunications at the Department.

Questions or concerns about the online survey or ECC field activities can be directed to ECC company management, or to the undersigned Department representative. Thank you in advance for your assistance in promoting the broadband online survey and the state's broadband mapping project.
